Pacific River Bags

We designed this bag to take the drudgery out of loading and unloading dry bags and gear on rafting trips - short (McKenzie model) or long (Colorado model). From our own experience, the hassle of individually strapping down bags, coolers, etc., has been eliminated by the convenience of just putting what you need to take along in the Pacific River Bag, once it is strapped to the raft. Cinch the drawrope and strap down the lid to the raft and you're ready to go! Cooler, dry bags, sunscreen, binocs and cameras, all can be put inside the bag and you know they will still be in the raft when you reach your destination - even if you flip the raft!

We deliver the Pacific River Bags with cam buckle straps attached to the rings sewn onto the middle and top of the bag. Further attachment rings are sewn onto the bottom of the bag for your convenience. The rings and straps make it easy to solidly secure this bag in the cavity of the raft.

The best feature of this bag is that it will hold no water! Any water quickly drains through the heavy-duty mesh fabric, which is reinforced with 1.5" heavyweight poly webbing.

- 498 McKenzie Pacific River Bag (S)
35" W x 25" front-to-back, 30" tall, fits rafts 14'-6" and smaller

The pump is shipped in a urethane-coated nylon bag, to protect it from dirt and minimize exposure to water. A sewn-on piece of webbing with loops makes it easy to strap the bag with pump to a thwart or to otherwise secure it to the boat. ## FOOTCUPS

Hypalon Footcups

Vinyl Footcups

The Original Closed Toe & Reinforced Rafter's Footcup

Footcups allow rafters a stable place to put their feet, leaving their hands free for paddling. Closed end makes it impossible for a foot to slip through. The boot is stitched to raft floor material, reinforced with 1" poly webbing around the base and 1.5" webbing over the arch. Extra reinforcement on the inside corners where stress is greatest.

Hinged Footcups

The newest innovation on our proven and popular closed-toe footcup is a hinged bottom. The flexibility of the hinged bottom makes this footcup ideal for ribbed bottom rafts.

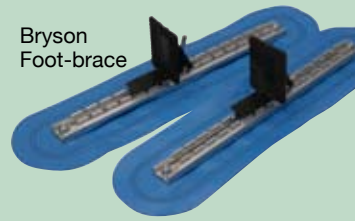

Hypalon footcups have a color top and black bottom:
 • gray/black, light gray/black, blue/black, red/black, white/black, yellow/black and black/black

Vinyl footcups are same color top and bottom:
 • gray, blue, black, yellow, and red

Hypalon or Vinyl Handle

Our handles pick up where others have let go! Each Hypalon handle consists of two pieces of 1.5" heavy-duty webbing sewn together to form a single handle. For the vinyl handle, the same heavy-duty webbing handle is also separately wrapped in raft material. This is then sewn together to form a single handle. For both Hypalon and vinyl, the handle is then sewn to the apron, which covers the strap ends. This is by far the toughest glue-on handle we've ever produced.
